Cultural Plan

Kelowna, British Columbia

WE ACKNOWLEDGE THAT OUR COMMUNITY IS LOCATED ON THE TRADITIONAL, ANCESTRAL, UNCEDED TERRITORY OF THE SYILX/OKANAGAN PEOPLE.

LEAN A LITTLE CLOSER, STILL BY ERIN SCOTT

Erin Scott is a poet and performer living on Syilx/Okanagan Territory (Kelowna). Her first chapbook, Atrophy, is forthcoming with Kalamalka Press in Spring 2020. Her work has appeared in Ricepaper Magazine, subTerrain Magazine, InspiraTO Festival, and Living Things International Arts Festival.

Imagine a city vibrant with juicy grapes, heavy on green vines that twine around an archway. Underneath this archway is a story of tobacco, a deep and mysterious lake where N’ha-a-itk protects the waters, Arrowleaf Balsam Root springs across the valley hills in orange tufts of sunshine. Bitter root in the dusty soil and the great black bear, there, beside the orchards full of peaches, apples, and cherries.

Lean a little closer in.

Can you hear the singing of local musicians?
The drumming of the Okanagan peoples?
Poetry spoken in the streets and the cafes?
Can you see the orchard ladders in the Laurel Museum?
The murals splashed across building sides on St. Paul Street?
The bear sculpture, lit and glowing at Stuart Park?

Please, lean a little closer, still.

We have work to do here, under this archway we call home. We have a vision of our culture and the chance to weave a new future with the stories of our past and present. Here, in the Okanagan Valley, we have a call to action.

We are the makers of magic. Each individual in our community can sprout a new tendril to thicken our grape vines, to cultivate the cultural vitality of Kelowna. From the painters and the poets, to the lawyers and accountants, to the Mayor and the City Council, to the settlers and the syilx/Okanagan People. Our story is weaved through our diversity. With each goal we commit to upholding and working on together to achieve, we watch a new bud on our entwined vine unfurl.

Come just a little closer, now. We are almost there.

Let’s commit together. Let us open doors for new spaces. Let us animate our community with tangible vitality. Let us increase our capacity with new opportunities. Let’s deepen our connections to the land, to the people, to the culture of Kelowna. But let’s remember, we are stronger together.

We are not only the grapes at the end of the branch. We are the entire plant. We are the roots upholding the vision. We are the trailing vine that guides and shapes our principles. We are the leaves that protect our goals as we persevere through ups and downs.

And underneath all of it, at the end of the growing season, we are the accumulation of all these things. We are the diverse, malleable and oh so delicious grapes. We are the culture, thickening around the archway, making history in Kelowna.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The City's first Cultural Plan was launched in 2012. Since then, significant progress has been made in implementing various Cultural Plan goals and strategies. Many already-existing cultural organizations have thrived, while new organizations and venues have emerged. Cultural spaces are heavily used, many at or near capacity. The Cultural District has been positively impacted by major initiatives such as the Bernard Avenue revitalization, the Civic Precinct Block Plan, relocation of the RCMP detachment, completion of new parkades and the opening of Kelowna's Innovation Centre.

Today, our community demographics are skewing younger. The unaffordability of spaces for living, working and creating is a challenge for many artists. In addition, key buildings in the City's inventory of cultural infrastructure such as the Kelowna Community Theatre and the Okanagan Heritage Museum, continue to age with mounting structural deficits, while new buildings go up around them. This updated Cultural Plan is intended to respond to these changes and challenges and set a direction for the future.

The process to update the Cultural Plan for 2020-2025 began in July 2018. While this 15-month project was led by the Cultural Services Department, the final plan was the work of many arts, culture and heritage organizations, collectives, artists, key stakeholders, Council, city staff and members of the public. The community was involved through surveys, online discussion forums, host your own engagement events, interviews, workshops and open houses.

The pieces of this plan all build on one another and each piece answers a critical question:

1. Vision – if we are successful in the implementation of the plan what would we hope to see?
2. Guiding Principles – to reach the vision what principles are integral to each key theme, goal, strategy and community initiative?
3. Key Themes & Goals – what are the key areas that we need to focus on to achieve the vision?
4. Strategies – what will we specifically focus our efforts and investments on over the next six years?
5. Community Initiatives – what can governments, organizations, businesses, capacity builders, funders, artists and residents do to help advance the strategies? Examples of community initiatives are identified to spark ideas about what else can be done to support the plan and vision.

This plan sets priorities for the enhancement of cultural vitality and community spaces and aligns with the Imagine Kelowna goal of an engaging arts and culture scene. This plan strives for a balance between being too vague in its priorities, therefore accomplishing little, and being too prescriptive, which would limit the ability to take advantage of new opportunities that may arise.

Most importantly, this plan sets a course for the entire creative sector to provide accessible, diverse and inclusive experiences, that uses resources effectively, leverages opportunities, is innovative and forward thinking and highlights the value of partnerships and cooperation.

THE NEXT PHASE OF CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT IN KELOWNA WILL BRING ABOUT NEW PROGRAMS, RELATIONSHIPS, COMMITMENTS AND SUPPORT. EVERYONE HAS A ROLE TO PLAY.

WHAT IS CULTURE?

At the beginning of the Cultural Plan engagement process, community members were asked to define culture. A total of 171 different definitions were submitted, many with common themes, and all with unique perspectives. Additional sampling of various definitions contributed by community members are sprinkled throughout this document.

Members of our community describe culture as:

- Place, history and shared experience formed and expressed through the creative arts and community activities. As culture emerges and develops, it generates a unique identity that impacts the lives of residents, visitors and tourists.
- Expressions of traditions and talents from diverse groups that create the heartbeat of our community. Culture enriches lives through knowledge sharing, empathy and adds vibrancy to everyday life.
- Our habits, rituals, performances and actions that give us meaning. The physical aspects of our environment that give us a sense of place. How we interact with each other and our space.
- Something that expands your world view and perspectives, draws on heritage, backgrounds, arts and experiences to create a wider understanding of the world around.
- The soul of a city.

It may not be possible to arrive at a precise definition of the word "culture." As noted in the 2012-2017 Cultural Plan, culture can mean different things to different people. The 2020-2025 Cultural Plan takes a similar approach and defines culture as:

A POROUS AND FLEXIBLE CONCEPT WHICH INCLUDES HERITAGE, THE ARTS, HUMAN DIVERSITY AND MANY OTHER ATTRIBUTES AND PRACTICES. THROUGHOUT THIS PLAN, USE OF THE WORD 'CULTURE' IS INTENDED TO BE BROADLY INCLUSIVE.

GETTING STARTED

Cultural development at the City of Kelowna began in the early 1970's when a committee formed to study the possibility of developing a Cultural Arts Centre.

In 1989, the City established a Mayor's task force to create a cultural policy to give form, support and provide direction for cultural development in Kelowna. Since then, significant progress has been made to integrate arts and culture into overall community planning and delivery of services to residents and visitors.

KELOWNA HAS COME A LONG WAY WHEN IT COMES TO CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT, BUT THERE IS STILL A LONG WAY TO GO. THIS PLAN PROVIDES DIRECTION ON HOW TO ACCOMPLISH THE CULTURAL FUTURE THAT OUR COMMUNITY ENVISIONS.

Today, Cultural Policy #274 provides a commitment and direction for cultural development. This policy states that:

The City will develop and regularly update a Cultural Plan to guide civic cultural initiatives.

The process for the Cultural Plan will include:

- Information gathering from, and consultations with, local stakeholders and the community-at-large. This may take the form of surveys, workshops and/or Open Houses;
- Review of best practices and comparable plans from other jurisdictions;
- Preparation and submission of a document which will establish an overall vision, goals, specific strategies and an implementation plan.

The Cultural Plan will require on-going implementation, monitoring and review.

ABOUT KELOWNA

Kelowna is in the heart of the Okanagan on the traditional territory of the syilx/Okanagan People. Nestled in the Okanagan Valley, Kelowna is bordered by mountains, lush agricultural land and orchards, as well as the stunning Okanagan Lake. Kelowna is the third largest city in British Columbia and one of the fastest growing cities in Canada. It is currently home to just over 131,000 residents.

Kelowna enjoys four distinct seasons and each has its own unique appeal. Tourists flock to the city's beaches and patios in the summer to soak up the sunshine and enjoy the lake life. The fall is a photographer's dream with vibrant maple leaves lining the city's hiking and walking trails. Snowy mountain peaks are perfect for skiing and snowboarding in the winter, while the spring boasts perfect weather for golf and touring the region's numerous wineries.

Kelowna has a rich history, beginning over 6,000 years ago with the settlement of the syilx/Okanagan People. Kelowna, which means 'Grizzly Bear' in the nsyilxcən language, became a city in 1905 when the population was only 600 people.

While culture is enjoyed throughout the city, it is on full display in the city's downtown Cultural District. Once the centre of the Okanagan's fruit packing industry, the six-block area has become a hub of Kelowna's artistic and cultural activities.

ALIGNING WITH THE OFFICIAL COMMUNITY PLAN AND IMAGINE KELOWNA

AN ECOSYSTEM OF PLANS

The Official Community Plan (OCP) is the primary tool that local governments use to guide the long-term growth of their communities. In Kelowna, the OCP sets out the vision, strategies and objectives for 20 years of growth.

The OCP knits together policies covering a wide range of areas into a growth strategy that sets the city on a path towards its desired long-term vision. Some areas include public art, cultural and heritage facilities and spaces, neighbourhoods and landscapes.

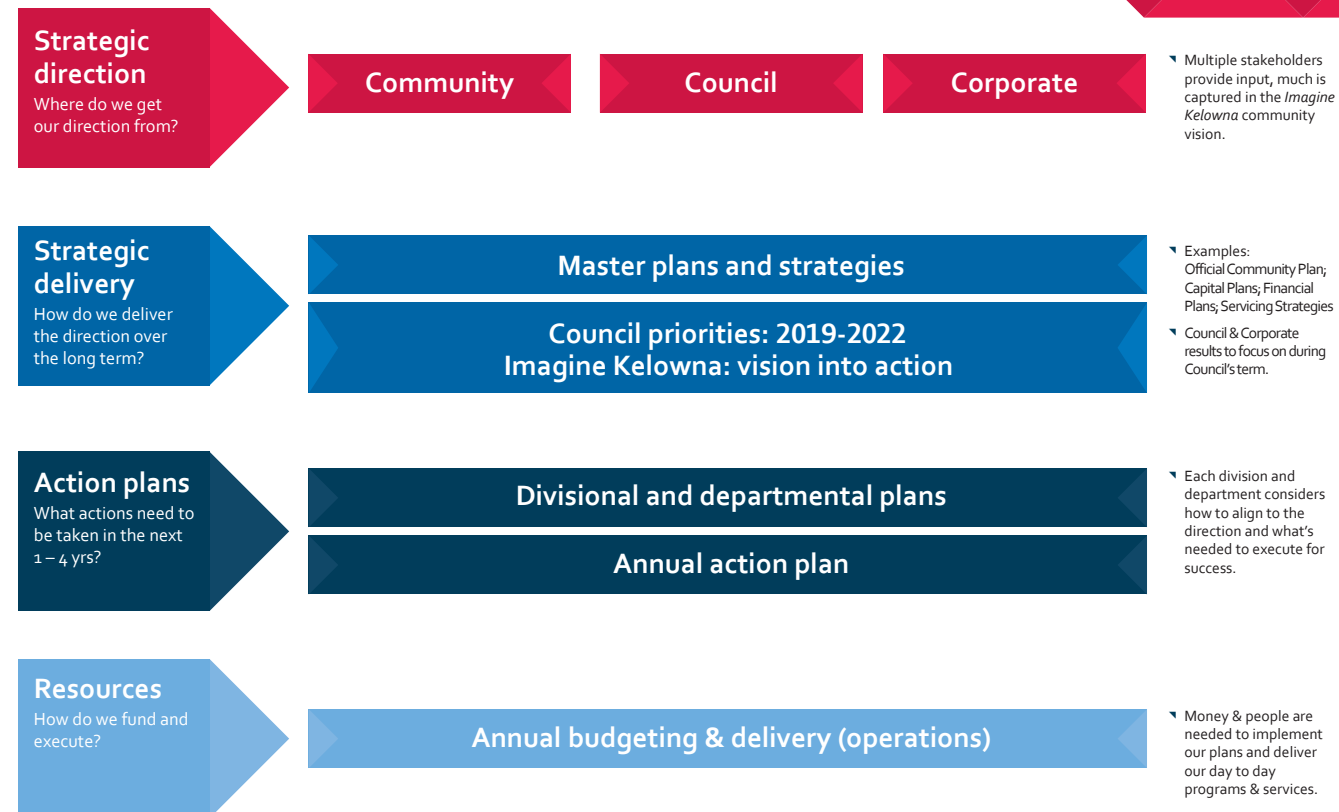

As a high-level, long-term policy document, the OCP is a powerful growth management tool that is grounded in the community's vision for the future.

The Imagine Kelowna community vision summarizes what residents want our city to look like by 2040. It envisions a community that puts people first, values its history, encourages curiosity and creativity and recognizes the changing roles of individuals, businesses, governments and community organizations. Imagine Kelowna has four principles (connected, smarter, responsible, collaborative) and 14 goals.

THE RESULT OF ALMOST 4,000 RESIDENT CONTRIBUTIONS, IMAGINE KELOWNA IS A VISION CREATED BY OUR COMMUNITY, FOR OUR COMMUNITY.

The vision and principles are higher-level, while the goals articulate more specific policy direction.

How do all the City's plans work together?

WHY HAVE A CULTURAL PLAN?

"Planning is critical to success in every facet of our lives. Cultural planning offers an opportunity for communities to create a roadmap unique to their needs, aspirations and strengths. By planning strategically, local governments and arts groups can work together to integrate arts and culture more fully into their community."

Honourable Stan Hagen, Minister of Tourism, Sport and the Arts
Cultural Planning Toolkit (2010), Creative Cities Network

CULTURE IS...

A COMMUNITY ASSET

Cultural planning is a way of viewing all aspects of a community's cultural life as a community asset. It considers the increased and diverse benefits these assets bring to the community both now and in the future. Understanding culture and cultural activities as resources for community development, rather than merely as cultural "products" to be subsidized, unlocks possibilities of enormous value.

A DIFFERENT WAY TO LOOK AT OUR COMMUNITY

The 2020-2025 Cultural Plan is a way to look at our community's strengths, issues and concerns. The plan provides a refreshed perspective and action-oriented strategies that will help find ways to support:

- community involvement and ownership of local cultural initiatives
- democratic cultural policy by better understanding what people are doing and want to do
- the development of meaningful and respectful relationships
- more programs and services in response to the desires of the community
- communication and cooperation among the creative sector and other community groups
- the effective integration of culture into the larger community
- a greater awareness and understanding of the cultural sector's potential economic impact
- the visibility of community artists, cultural workers and organizations
- the improvement of community safety and combatting social exclusion for everyone
- access to cultural activities and the development of larger audiences
- cultural facility development
- increased public and private support for culture

MUCH MORE THAN JUST SOMETHING THAT IS GOOD FOR THE ECONOMY, BUT IT'S THAT TOO!

In recognizing that culture delivers much more than just material and economic rewards, the 2020-2025 Cultural Plan sets a direction for cultural development in Kelowna.

CULTURE AS AN ECONOMIC DRIVER

The Kelowna Creative Sector Economic Impact Assessment report was prepared as part of the 2020-2025 Cultural Plan development by Jamie Vann Struth of Vann Struth Consulting Group Inc. The report provides an updated estimate of the creative sector's economic impact in Kelowna, which was previously studied in 2010. The report helps identify the creative sector's progress since the adoption of the 2012-2017 Cultural Plan and informs the strategies for continued development of the sector through 2025.

The report divides the creative sector into 11 components. Each component is analyzed using statistics, results of a confidential online survey and other public data to generate employment, revenue and income estimates. The results are impressive.

The full report calculates the economic spinoffs generated by suppliers to the creative sector (called indirect impact) and the household spending of affected workers (called induced impact). The report also looks at the self-employment rate among artists, the impressive level of volunteerism within the creative sector and how the creative sector overlaps and supports the city's tourism sector.

It is important to note that an economic impact analysis is largely based on market-oriented metrics such as revenue, income and paid employment. This framework can be an awkward fit with the creative sector, which includes many participants who are not regularly paid and who participate in creative activities because of their passion for the arts and the intrinsic value it provides them personally, as well as to their audiences and the community at large. These values are not easily measured in a standard economic impact assessment, even if they are among the most important ways that the creative sector provides value to the community.

WEAVING OUR COLLECTIVE THREADS

OFFERING A PATHWAY FOR SYILX CREATIVITY WITHIN THE CITY OF KELOWNA

Kelowna's creative sector, along with the City of Kelowna, acknowledges that working with syilx/Okanagan governments, communities, artists and community members is an ongoing process. It is a process that requires a long-term commitment to relationship building and reconciliation efforts. It requires a change in thinking and a reconsideration of existing frameworks and processes. As such, the process of working with our Indigenous hosts is intentionally organic, flexible and intended to develop over time. It is by continuing this journey together that we will make the greatest progress toward intentional and meaningful change.

Excerpt from the report: Weaving our Collective Threads: Offering a Pathway for Syilx Creativity Within the City of Kelowna by Carrie Terbasket, Stands Above Consulting (2019).

For syilx people, culture is not separate from the natural world, but rather one living and breathing entity. The methods of our survival have depended on our relationship with the natural world and expressing those relationships and resulting responsibilities through our creativity. The way that syilx people view arts, culture, and heritage is very different from the western perspective. The creative sector of Kelowna, through its Cultural Planning process, must make space for the voice and presence of the syilx people - the rightful caretakers of the lands and waters in which Kelowna is situated. The underlying and all-encompassing spirit that makes Kelowna such a beautiful place to live, work, play, and be, is the very same spirit that has sustained the syilx People since time out of mind.

The city of Kelowna has an opportunity to be innovative and cutting edge in its approach to cultural planning. It is essential that respectful and reciprocal relationships are built between the creative sector of Kelowna and the syilx/Okanagan Nation that acknowledges the leadership and responsibility of the syilx People. In addition, the City of Kelowna has a duty to respond to the current gap it has in relation to understanding and acknowledging the space required for syilx expression that are being forgotten in this context. True innovation will require the creative sector of Kelowna to think outside the box for something meaningful that develops a new set of principles and commitments to syilx People.

If the primary goal of this new Cultural Plan is to nurture and promote cultural values in the city of Kelowna, then maybe a fundamental similarity exists which can provide a space of commonality to create a new approach to a higher, more restored level of Cultural Planning. Essential to this new approach is the meaningful contribution of syilx People in the creation and implementation of a new Cultural Plan. Specifically, leadership by syilx governments, communities, and organizations are key to the successful development of the City of Kelowna's new Cultural Plan. Supporting the syilx Peoples to share the driver's seat on cultural planning would constitute a step toward reconciliation, and importantly, reconciliation that is well outside of the status quo.

Through this new framework, the syilx Nation will not simply be responding to already crafted goals and strategies with little to no capacity to do so. As seen in many other municipalities, this after-the-fact approach does not work. Shared experiences will lead to greater understanding, appreciation, and support of the necessary and profound ways in which syilx People express and share their culture and creativity.

The idea of creating a plan for the creative sector of Kelowna that enhances and honours human creative expression has deep commonality with the syilx perspective and world view on what constitutes a healthy life – or, as we say - living the good syilx life. The City of Kelowna, on its journey of updating its Cultural Plan, should consider and centralize a way in which this new plan contains the space, support, and language that will open the door for syilx people to feel welcome to take their rightful places as hosts of this beautiful city located in the heart of unceded syilx lands and waters. Our world needs a more open and secure place – we all deserve to be free to express ourselves and celebrate our unique cultures and ways of being in this world. Artists will lead us all to that freedom. However, we have to take care of our collective hurt first, we have to be brave enough to have the conversations and develop understandings that will open the space for our vision to be fully realized. The built environment that makes up the city of Kelowna remains a sacred and valued space within syilx territory. As the largest urban centre within syilx lands and waters, Kelowna holds a unique responsibility and opportunity to become a leading centre of excellence for arts and culture.

This report was prepared for the City of Kelowna as a component of the Cultural Plan engagement process. This report does not, and cannot be used to, speak for any First Nation in any capacity. A copy of the full report is available at kelowna.ca/culture.

The syilx/Okanagan nation must have full and direct involvement throughout a cultural planning framework constructed through a lens of real partnership, reconciliation, and common understanding.

THE CULTURAL PLAN PROCESS

CULTURAL PLAN TIMELINE

Over a 15-month process (July 2018 - September 2019), the development of the 2020-2025 Cultural Plan moved through three phases and each phase had two or three components:

- Discover Phase – Framing, Engagement, Synthesis
- Design Phase – Shaping the vision, Mobilizing commitment, Adopting the plan
- Deliver Phase – Launching the plan, Moving forward

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORTS

In addition to the 2020-2025 Cultural Plan, five complementary reports were prepared to enhance key focus areas of the Plan's development:

- 2012-2017 Cultural Report Card
- Kelowna Creative Sector Economic Impact Assessment
- Weaving Our Collective Threads: Offering a Pathway for Syilx Creativity Within the City of Kelowna
- Capstone Project: Data Analysis Report Summary
- Cultural Facilities Master Plan (this report is scheduled to be release in late fall 2019)

These additional reports include a variety of qualitative and quantitative data collected from a wide range of sources. The reports are available online at kelowna.ca/culture.

CONSULTING WITH THE COMMUNITY - OVERVIEW OF ENGAGEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The development of the Cultural Plan required a deep understanding and appreciation of the population which it is intended to serve. That is why significant time and effort was put into ensuring a variety of methods were used to solicit feedback from interested stakeholders.

Activities included:

- online and paper surveys
- online discussion forums
- children's "Cultural Footprint" activity
- "Host Your Own Engagement" events and grant program
- Young Professionals Open House
- Youth and Young Professionals Forum
- Innovation Centre Chalk Wall
- multiple stakeholder workshops and open house events
- stakeholder interviews

A more detailed description about the above engagement activities are contained in Appendix II: Methodology for Engagement.

CULTURAL PLAN ADVISORY GROUP

The Cultural Plan Advisory Group supported the Cultural Services Department by providing perspective and input into the plan's creation. The Advisory Group is made up of 19 members comprised of two sub-groups including:

1. Internal Advisory Group: included nine staff members from the City of Kelowna, appointed because their area of responsibility is impacted or directly impacts the advancement of the plan's goals and strategies within the City of Kelowna.
2. External Advisory Group: included 10 members of the arts, culture and heritage community with broad representation of artistic disciplines and practices, including strong representation from individual practitioners. These members volunteered their time.

Biographies for all external members of the Advisory Group are provided in the appendix.

The Advisory Group met six times over the 15-month period in a workshop setting. Topics for each workshop varied and allowed members to work through information received from the community in a systematic way. The Advisory Group provided feedback on key aspects of the plan.

CULTURAL PLANNING TOOLKIT

This plan was developed using the Cultural Planning Toolkit, which was created through a partnership between 2010 Legacies Now and Creative City Network of Canada. The toolkit can be found at creativitycity.ca.

STRUCTURE OF THE 2020-2025 CULTURAL PLAN

The 2020-2025 Cultural Plan includes a vision, four guiding principles, five key themes, 10 goals, 50 strategies and numerous sample community initiatives.

THE PIECES OF THIS PLAN ALL BUILD ON ONE ANOTHER AND EACH PIECE ANSWERS A CRITICAL QUESTION:

Vision: if we are successful in the implementation of the plan what would we hope to see?

Guiding Principles: to reach the vision what principles are integral to each key theme, goal, strategy and community initiative?

Key Themes & Goals: what are the key areas that we need to focus on to achieve the vision?

Strategies: what will we specifically focus our efforts and investments on over the next six years?

Community Initiatives: what can governments, organizations, businesses, capacity builders, funders, artists and residents do to help advance the strategies? Examples of sample community initiatives are identified to spark ideas about what else can be done to support the plan and vision.

The inclusion of sample community initiatives at the base of this triangle highlights how critically important it is that everyone supports the plan's strategies, goals, themes and principles. Without that support, it will be impossible to achieve the vision.

VISION

We see a community which...

embraces and celebrates diversity and is open and welcoming to all	fosters innovation, attracts and retains people in its workforce	proactively welcomes and encourages the discovery of new experiences and art forms is recognized as a four-season destination with a rich variety of high-quality arts, culture and heritage experiences	has distinct urban centres that understand their histories and promote their uniqueness while encouraging flow between each one	invests in infrastructure, artists and non-profit organizations as a way to build character and identity is a leader in building collaborations and increasing quality of life for future generations	has meaningful and ongoing consultation with our First Nation hosts and provides new opportunities for Indigenous voice and expression	showcases its histories through its people, activities, buildings, landscapes, sites and stories tackles challenges critically and creatively with an open spirit

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

ACCESSIBILITY, DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

We welcome everyone to engage in quality experiences that showcase the unique identity of our community. This principle acknowledges that syilx perspective and worldview is not the same as western concepts and methods of cultural planning and that fair and equitable support is necessary.

ACCOUNTABILITY & FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY

We use resources effectively to leverage opportunities that optimize value and create impact. This principle acknowledges that partnerships with syilx organizations and/or governments are co-created. In all instances where feedback is sought, the circle of sharing must be closed and there is a responsibility to report back about how the feedback was applied.

INNOVATION

We support forward-thinking solutions that anticipate needs and brings together a range of experiences to see the future in a different way. This principle acknowledges that a commitment to truth-telling and shining a light on inequities to envision a bold new future for arts and culture is necessary. All partners must be willing to explore and experiment.

PARTNERSHIPS & COOPERATION

We achieve more through meaningful relationships of mutual respect and understanding. This principle acknowledges that meaningful partnerships with syilx governments, organizations and people is important and that existing power structures and dynamics need to be examined.

STRUCTURE OF THE 2020-2025 CULTURAL PLAN

KEY THEMES

STRATEGIC INVESTMENTS

foster deliberate investments of time, money and people into demonstrated outcomes

SPACES

use new and traditional approaches for enhancing the availability, affordability and accessibility of spaces for culture

VITALITY

animate the community with a blend of programs, services and events that promote artistic excellence and share Kelowna's history

CAPACITY

build on the creative sector's ability to respond to changing demands and new opportunities

CONNECTIONS

promote ongoing interactions between people, sectors and disciplines

Strategic investments is in the center of the diagram to demonstrate its importance across all the key theme areas. Investment in the creative sector will be instrumental in our success and threads through the remaining four areas.

What is Culture?

"All that makes and defines us as 'human' - how we communicate, celebrate, share, traditions, values, beliefs, arts, language, stories, architecture, music and dance."

STRATEGIC INVESTMENTS

Foster deliberate investments of time, money and people into demonstrated outcomes

Increased investment in the creative sector will be instrumental to this plan's success and is important to all the key theme areas. While increased funding is critical to artists and organizations, this theme is also about investments of time and people. For example, an event's success is dependent on generating enough revenue to support its operations as well as on volunteers investing their time and skills. This is also true for cultural organizations. They require funding to operate but also need skilled people on their boards of directors to provide guidance on topics like governance, finance, human resources and risk management.

Strategic investments require us to think ahead and identify the long-term goals and strategies needed to achieve them. Strategic investment is a long-term strategy, not a band-aid solution to a problem. The creative sector requires carefully designed and planned investments to ensure they meet the needs of the community.

GOAL 1: INCREASE CONTRIBUTION OF RESOURCES

Develop a variety of approaches to increase support for the creative sector's spaces, capacity, vitality and connections.

In 2018, the City of Kelowna invested approximately $3 million into the creative sector. Support was provided in the form of: Cultural Services administration; operation of the Kelowna Community Theatre; annual operating support for Kelowna Art Gallery, Rotary Centre for the Arts and Kelowna Museums; the professional arts program; Festivals Kelowna funding; general operating grants; project grants; organization development grants; heritage building grants; support to the Sister City program; permissive tax exemptions; and the public art program. All of this support adds up to a per-capita investment of $23.59 by the City.

Investment by the City is only part of the story, however. Organizations can leverage the City's support by engaging with other levels of government and the private sector, along with their own earned revenue. In 2018, non-profit organizations funded under the Professional Arts program were able to leverage an additional $19.92 for every dollar invested by the City.

Support and expertise are also provided to the creative sector through volunteerism. In 2018, an estimated 380,000 volunteer hours were contributed to Kelowna's creative sector (VannStruth, 2019. Kelowna Creative Sector Economic Impact Assessment). Every year, volunteers provide organizations in the sector with valuable skills and labour worth millions of dollars, enhancing their programs and events.

The value of culture far outweighs the per-capita costs and the City has a vital and on-going role in providing support to the creative sector. However, the responsibility must be shared with all levels of government, the private sector and the community.

HOW WILL WE KNOW IF WE ARE SUCCESSFUL?

The evaluation criteria provided below is the starting point for evaluating this plan's successful implementation. These criteria however, are not exclusive. Every community initiative that aligns with this plan will have its own way of measuring success. In addition, qualitative measures of success can be undervalued when there is a focus on quantitative measures.

EVALUATION CRITERIA:

- Total dollars invested by the City of Kelowna to cultural organizations
- Municipal contributions leveraged by other public and private sector contributions
- Number of volunteer hours provided to funded organizations (hours, $ value, full-time equivalents)
- Number of unique volunteers
- Average income of creative sector workers
- Total dollars invested in cultural infrastructure projects (public and private)

STRATEGIC INVESTMENTS: INCREASE CONTRIBUTION OF RESOURCES

What is Culture?

"Culture covers a broad range of interests and activities that enrich our lives and our understanding of others."

GOAL 2: UNDERSTAND OUR IMPACT

Leverage the value that culture contributes to the community.

Culture has a major impact on our lives and our economy. However, in order to maximize the ability to leverage private and public sector support for culture, we first need to deepen the level of understanding about the impact of cultural programs and services on our community. This information is a vital component of internal planning and evaluation.

While cultural programs and events have a strong connection to the economic vibrancy of our community (see Culture as an Economic Driver), culture provides much more than just economic benefits. Additional qualitative and quantitative data are needed to accurately illustrate the impact culture has on the health, creativity and innovation of our residents. For example:

Engagement with arts and culture in a variety of different activities has consistently been found to improve self-reported levels of physical and mental health. When comparing people who participate in cultural activities against those who don't, 57 per cent of participants reported their health as "very good" or "excellent", compared to 48 per cent of non-participants. Meanwhile, 65 per cent of participants reported their mental health as "very good" or "excellent", compared to 50 per cent of non-participants. (Hill Strategies, 2013. The Arts and Individual Well-Being in Canada)

Creative engagement can decrease anxiety, stress and mood disturbances, all of which have links to chronic health issues. (Stuckey, H. L., & Nobel, J., 2010. The connection between art, healing, and public health: a review of current literature)

In mothers with moderate-severe Post Natal Depression, singing therapy showed to significantly reduce their symptoms, and to do so faster than other forms of treatment such as creative play therapy. (Fancourt, D., & Perkins, R., 2018. Effect of singing interventions on symptoms of postnatal depression)

HOW WILL WE KNOW IF WE ARE SUCCESSFUL?

The evaluation criteria provided below is the starting point for evaluating this plan's successful implementation. These criteria however, are not exclusive. Every community initiative that aligns with this plan will have its own way of measuring success. SPACES

Utilizing new and traditional approaches for enhancing availability, affordability and accessibility of space for culture

Kelowna is home to museums, art galleries, community buildings, heritage buildings, theatres, outdoor venues and more. To ensure that needs are being met it is important that existing spaces are used to their highest potential. Shared production spaces, co-locating and using existing non-creative spaces for creative activities, are just some of the ways that we can use the spaces available in our community. This also gives the opportunity to protect heritage assets in our community, both built heritage and natural landscapes or local archaeological sites.

In addition to using available spaces to their best potential, we need to establish a commitment to the development of new cultural spaces. It has been identified that current infrastructure is outdated and no longer meets all of the sector's needs.

GOAL 3: OPTIMIZE EXISTING SPACES

Improve the use of existing space and allow for alternative solutions to meet community needs.

Culture happens everywhere. Continuing to support the development of the Cultural District while also moving cultural programming into all parts of the community will ease space needs and create a more accessible environment for those who are not able to get downtown. It is important to be innovative in our approach to the use of space and encourage people to attend events in unique or non-traditional venues.

Major cultural facilities in Kelowna include the Rotary Centre for the Arts, Kelowna Art Gallery, Kelowna Community Theatre and five Kelowna Museums. The City owns these buildings, however except for the Kelowna Community Theatre, they are operated by non-profit organizations through Lease and Operating Agreements. The Kelowna Community Theatre is the only cultural facility both owned and operated by the City.

Our community is also home to many natural landscapes, local archaeological sites and built heritage. The Heritage Strategy, last updated in July 2015, assists the City in identifying, maintaining and protecting its valuable community heritage resources during a time of rapid growth and development. As of 2018, there were 206 registered heritage properties in Kelowna. The City of Kelowna invests $35,000 annually in Heritage Grants that assist homeowners with projects to restore their heritage homes.

HOW WILL WE KNOW IF WE ARE SUCCESSFUL?

The evaluation criteria provided below is the starting point for evaluating this plan's successful implementation. These criteria however, are not exclusive. Every community initiative that aligns with this plan will have its own way of measuring success. In addition, qualitative measures of success can be undervalued when there is a focus on quantitative measures.

EVALUATION CRITERIA:

- Total dollars invested in built heritage
- Heritage owner knowledge of how to care for built heritage
- Total dollars invested in Kelowna Community Theatre, Kelowna Art Gallery, Rotary Centre for the Arts and Kelowna Museums Society facility improvements
- Number of Kelowna Community Theatre and Rotary Centre for the Arts (Mary Irwin Theatre) bookings
- Number of exhibits at Kelowna Art Gallery and Alternator Centre
- Number of bus stops
- Number of permanent and temporary art exhibitions
- Venue usage and decreased turn-aways

What is Culture?

"Culture is an encompassing word that describes a regions or cities attitude and demeanor. It lives in the infrastructure, it's economy, it's environment, it's people, it's parks and it's art. It is what collected people who are alike to live together."

GOAL 4: COMMIT TO DEVELOPING NEW FACILITIES

Actively plan and seek opportunities for the advancement of new cultural facilities.

Kelowna's major cultural facilities and spaces are concentrated in the Cultural District. While this has boosted the vibrancy of our downtown, it also creates several challenges especially in the areas of parking, transportation and overall accessibility. In addition, many of Kelowna's facilities are aging and have structural deficits that limit the ability to mount sophisticated productions and negatively impact the audience experience.

The Cultural Facilities Master Plan, expected to be released in late 2019, will provide direction and inform ongoing investments, decisions, priorities and actions. This report will be a starting point for demonstrating the need for more facilities.

However, it is imperative that the sector be able to demonstrate its need for new space. Without a strong, evidence-based understanding of the sector's needs, it will be difficult to garner support and commitment for the development of new facilities.

STRATEGY 4.1 UNDERSTAND THE CURRENT AND FUTURE NEEDS FOR NEW CULTURAL FACILITIES WITHIN THE COMMUNITY

Initiatives that support this strategy will focus on preparing for opportunities to advance the development of new cultural facilities. Initiatives will help organizations in the creative sector understand their facility requirements and advocate for their needs.

VITALITY

Animate the community with a blend of programs, services and events that promote artistic excellence and share Kelowna's history

By fully understanding our history and honouring the land, people and cultures that make our community great, we will work collectively towards a stronger future.

Nurturing the skills of local artists and showcasing Kelowna's unique cultural offerings will make our city more creative and more attractive to residents and visitors alike. This will require animating the streets throughout the city and offering more programs, services and events that people want to participate in.

As a community we must be willing to learn, celebrate and showcase our human, artistic and cultural diversities.

GOAL 5: LEARN FROM OUR PAST

Engage the public in the protection and preservation of Kelowna's human and natural history and bring stories about our past to the forefront.

Understanding our past allows us to understand our present. Getting the public to engage with our history builds curiosity about where we came from.

During the summer, walking tours of the Cultural District are offered by the City and Kelowna Museums. These tours showcase the district's past and present and provides participants with a unique perspective on Kelowna's evolution as a community. Programs and initiatives like this allow residents to be a tourist in their own back yard and teaches visitors about our community's historical value.

While Kelowna's settler history has been widely shared within our community, the pre-settler history has been largely been left out. The syilx/Okanagan People have occupied this place since time immemorial and their way of life was disrupted by the arrival of settlers in the 1800's. Pre-settler history is an integral component of where we have come from and the time to tell these stories is long overdue.

HOW WILL YOU SUPPORT THIS STRATEGY?

What is Culture?

"Culture is transmitted, through language, material objects, ritual, institutions, and art, from one generation to the next."

GOAL 6: BOOST VITALITY AT THE STREET LEVEL

Create excitement and activity throughout Kelowna.

Culture draws people to visit our community, creates an engaging atmosphere for residents and builds a vibrant and unique community identity.

Kelowna's downtown is home to the Cultural District. This area continues to experience significant growth and the densification plan for the downtown core will increase the need to continue to boost vitality at the street level.

Kelowna currently has more than 70 pieces of public art displayed around the city, from Kelowna International Airport to the waterfront. Pieces include murals, sculptures and cultural elements integrated into our infrastructure. These pieces enrich our public spaces while fostering a sense of place and emotional attachment to Kelowna's urban environment.

Each year from mid-June until late September, Festivals Kelowna places eight artist decorated pianos in parks and public spaces for residents and visitors to enjoy through their Pianos in Parks program. These public pianos are located along the lakefront, around downtown, and in unique spaces like Roxby Square in Rutland and at the Kelowna Memorial Cemetery.

During the summer months, "Parks Alive!" presents 47 concert events 5-6 days a week from early July to the end of August featuring more than 225 local, regional, and touring artists across multiple musical genres, performing in more than 18 parks all over our community. Finally, the "Kelowna Buskers Program" provides 16 designated 'Busk Stop' locations throughout downtown and the lower Mission area to encourage and support 'street style' performances year-round.

These programs animate public spaces, helping bring life and sound to the streets of Kelowna. We are a community with a passion for live music and have the privilege of having a large community of emerging and established musicians willing and able to entertain residents and visitors.

STRATEGY 6.1 EXPAND LIVE MUSIC VENUES AND LOCAL LIVE MUSIC OPPORTUNITIES

Initiatives that support this strategy will advance the promotion of live music in Kelowna, optimize and increase awareness of available spaces and create opportunities to present the talents of local musicians for larger audiences.

CAPACITY

Build on the creative sector's ability to respond to changing demands and new opportunities

A community's needs change significantly over time as a result of new social realities, new technologies and generational differences. Artists and organizations need to adapt to these changes if they want to be successful and sustainable over the long-term. To do this, they need to have a clear understanding of their mission, governance, financial resources and administrative systems.

This section of the plan is about how to build up the creative sector's capacity to meet our community's future needs. As part of that, it calls on all stakeholders to be honest about where they stand in relation to the syilx/Okanagan People and their role in working towards reconciliation.

GOAL 7: SUPPORT A VIABLE CREATIVE SECTOR

Enhance administrative, financial, management and governance systems that create a strong foundation for the future.

It is important to the City of Kelowna that arts, culture and heritage organizations are successful. Therefore, the City is committed to supporting these organizations in their capacity building efforts based on their current lifecycle stage. Using a lifecycle approach to providing support empowers organizational leaders to identify the challenges they face and the steps they need to take to continue developing.

Each year, the City dedicates $30,000 towards Organization Development Grants for the non-profit sector. These grants allow non-profit organizations to pursue initiatives that grow their capacity and sustainability.

Over the next several years, an important component of these capacity building efforts will be to look at our relationship with the syilx/Okanagan People. In order to build lasting change, both the City and non-profit organizations will need to shift the way we do business.

"Creating frameworks and approaches that are meaningful, relatable, and relevant for syilx people are essential components of strong and long-lasting bridges between the City of Kelowna and the syilx / Okanagan Nation. Part of this work requires that a co-created vision be developed between the City of Kelowna and the syilx People. A fundamental principle that must be interwoven throughout every aspect of this work is safety and freedom – more specifically, freedom from exploitation and tokenism. To visually and meaningfully portray syilx culture, art, and expression, a strong and secure foundation is required – in other words, the unseen, systemic barriers, oppressive policies, exclusive decision making, and othering must be acknowledged and addressed in order to get to the place we all want to be."
(Carrie Terbasket, 2019. Weaving Our Collective Threads: Offering a Pathway for Syilx Creativity Within the City of Kelowna)

HOW WILL WE KNOW IF WE ARE SUCCESSFUL?

The evaluation criteria provided below is the starting point for evaluating this plan's successful implementation. These criteria however, are not exclusive. In addition, qualitative measures of success can be undervalued when there is a focus on quantitative measures.

- Number of people attending cultural competency training opportunities

What is Culture?

"Culture defines who we are as a society - it reflects our values."

CONNECTIONS

Promote ongoing interactions between people, sectors and disciplines

Most people have heard the phrase, “the whole is greater than the sum of its parts.” People and organizations can accomplish more by working together than they can on their own. This is why it is important to connect creative disciplines with each other, and with other sectors. This includes connecting non-profit organizations with for-profit enterprises.

Developing mutually beneficial relationships between diverse people and organizations facilitates the advancement of initiatives that serve the greater community needs. Collaboration and cooperation on projects that advance these needs will be integral to the creative sector’s success and will help develop a stronger creative community.

Connecting arts and culture organizations with the community will promote audience development and help build a strong group of residents who will be better positioned to advocate for investment in culture. Taking collective action locally, regionally and nationally will help to reach common goals on a larger scale.

GOAL 8: SHARE OUR STORY

Celebrate local activities, initiatives and successes with the broader community.

Local artists and organizations regularly accomplish great things in their fields and receive awards for their work. For example, local artists often receive funding to present their work abroad, Kelowna-based musicians are touring the world, and Kelowna has been listed as one of the Top 10 Mid-Size Cities for Culture Days, 5 years in a row. And this is just a small sample. We need to be loudly celebrating these accomplishments!

It is important to encourage broader participation in cultural programming and develop deep and loyal relationships between audiences, artists, venues and organizations. Recent initiatives such as the #KelownaCulture Facebook Page, developed by the Arts Council of the Central Okanagan, have promoted audience development by encouraging the listing of all cultural activities in a centralized location. This initiative had long been desired by the community.

It is also important to grow the audience that comes from outside Kelowna. As shown in the Kelowna Creative Sector Economic Impact Assessment report, approximately 30% of all cultural facility or event attendees come from outside Kelowna. This creates an opportunity to work with local tourism professionals to promote Kelowna as a place that has more than just wine, golf and beaches.

HOW WILL WE KNOW IF WE ARE SUCCESSFUL?

The evaluation criteria provided below is the starting point for evaluating this plan’s successful implementation. These criteria however, are not exclusive. Every community initiative that aligns with this plan will have its own way of measuring success. - People reached for each marketing initiative undertaken
- Total reach per dollar invested

 HOW WILL YOU SUPPORT THIS STRATEGY?

GOAL 9: BROADEN THE REACH

Incorporate culture within other sectors as an integral piece of community growth.

As community issues become more complex and the need to work collectively increases, the creative sector has an opportunity to bring people together to work on common issues and improve our quality of life.

Partnerships need to be developed between arts organizations and other non-profits, the business sector and non-arts mandated organizations. Organizations in the creative sector and their partners can help each other tap into new markets, promote their brands and develop new audiences and clients.

The City of Kelowna currently has a Cultural Policy that covers arts, culture and heritage. The City also has the Sister City Policy, which provides direction for the development of sister city relations. Continuing to update these policies, or creating new ones, will be important to ensure that local government is meeting the needs of Kelowna's creative sector.

What is Culture?
 "Culture is important to the well-being of the community, the quality of life for all residents and the economic vibrancy of the city. It helps to create a place where people want to live with celebrations, activities and spaces."

GOAL 10: CONVENE AND CONNECT

Bring the creative sector together for dialogue, exchange and action.

"No one can whistle a symphony. It takes a whole orchestra to play it." – H.E. Luccock

Our community has shown great strength when rallying together to achieve a common goal. For example, in 2018 a fire severely damaged the 147-year-old Fleming House. The building was slated for demolition, but heritage advocates banded together to highlight the site's importance and today it stands with a new, protective roof on it.

Every quarter, approximately 15 local arts organizations convene for the Kelowna Arts and Culture Roundtable to discuss challenges, successes and possible collaborations on upcoming projects. The roundtable facilitates learning and sharing within the sector, and provides members with an opportunity to plan collective action.

There are also opportunities for people in Kelowna's creative sector to connect with like-minded individuals from outside Kelowna. In 2018, Breakout West and the BC Museums Association Conference both took place in Kelowna, giving locals the opportunity to network with hundreds of colleagues from around the province. In the fall of 2019, Arts BC's 40th Anniversary Conference will be held in Kelowna, offering skills development and collaboration with community arts leaders.

Convening provincial and national conferences in our community has a positive impact on tourism and our economy, makes it easy for local arts professionals to participate in these events and gives our community the chance to show off our unique culture. Developing strong connections with individuals and organizations outside of Kelowna are crucial to advancing the strategies laid out in this plan.

APPENDIX II: METHODOLOGY FOR ENGAGEMENT

SURVEY 1: VISIONING JULY 16 – SEPTEMBER 3 2018

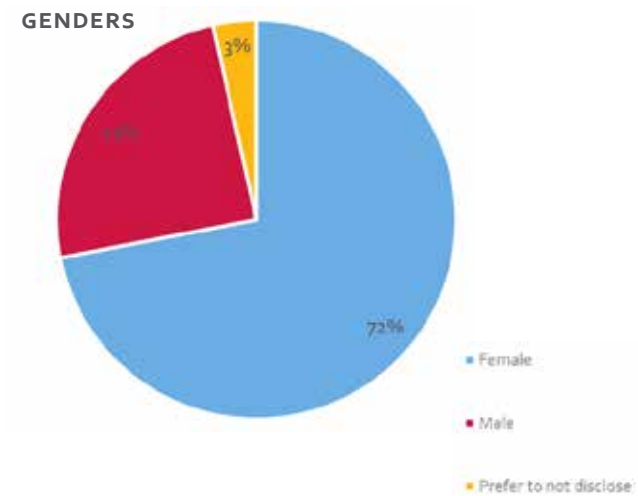

A survey was launched on July 16, 2018 to kick-off the Cultural Plan engagement. The survey was made available at Park and Play events around the community in conjunction with a cultural footprint activity for children. The survey was also promoted through a database of arts, culture and heritage stakeholders, on kelowna.ca/culture, through the media, and on the City of Kelowna's social media channels.

The purpose of the survey was to understand how the community defines and experiences culture in Kelowna. Questions focused on a definition of culture, cultural venues and locations, what current cultural activities respondents considered a success and any additional suggestions for ways to improve culture in Kelowna.

On September 3, 2018 the survey closed with a total of 180 responses. At the close of the survey, in addition to the responses received, there were:

- 944 page views on Get Involved Cultural Plan
- 479 unique page views on Survey 1 – average time spent on page was 2 minutes and 53 seconds.
- 20 downloads of the 2012-2017 Cultural Plan
- 13 downloads of the Cultural Plan Mid-term Report Card
- 6 downloads of the Report to Council: Cultural Plan

SURVEY DEMOGRAPHICS

FINDINGS

The community has a broad definition of culture including: arts, identity, history, society, ethnicity, traditions, music, theatre and beliefs.

Respondents believe that our community is currently doing well in several areas including events, heritage, promotion, organizations, support for programs, creative spaces and opportunities for collaboration.

Survey respondents identified the following areas of improvement:

- Financial support
- Creative spaces
- Promotion
- Events
- Heritage
- Public art
- Truth and Reconciliation
- Accessibility and inclusion

APPENDIX II: METHODOLOGY FOR ENGAGEMENT

CHILDREN'S CULTURAL FOOTPRINT ACTIVITY JULY 16 – AUGUST 23 2018 & JANUARY 20 2019

To engage the younger population, children aged 4-12 were provided with the opportunity to participate in a cultural footprint activity. While attending Park & Play events over the summer of 2018, or the Unplug and Play event in January of 2019, children were able to complete their own "cultural footprint" by gluing icons that represented cultural activities to a cardstock cut-out of a footprint. They were also able to add additional icons of their own if they wished.

There were 119 cultural footprints created through the summer, and 66 completed at the Unplug and Play event.

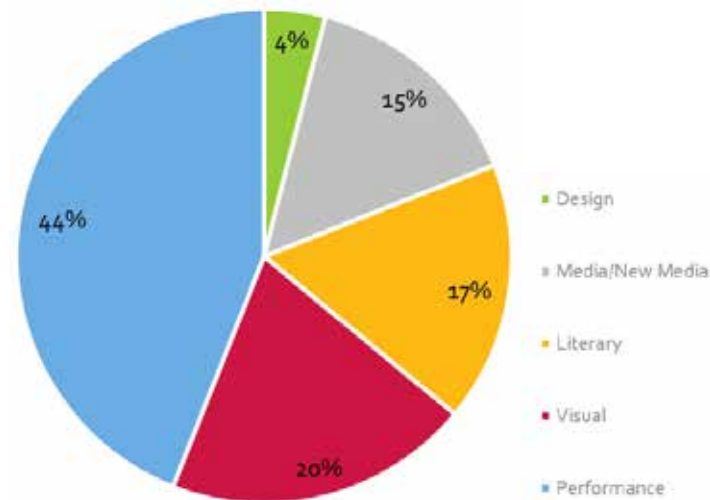

In total, 185 cultural footprints were created.

FINDINGS

All children identified at least one way of participating in culture in Kelowna. The types of activities that the children participated in were broken into 5 categories:

1. Performance: music | dance | theatre | spoken word | improvisation
2. Visual Arts: 2 and 3 dimensional | performance | fine or artisanal craft | site specific or temporary installation
3. Literary Arts: poetry | prose | storytelling
4. Media/new media: film | video | still photography
5. Design: fashion | graphic | industrial | interior

CULTURAL FOOTPRINT RESULTS

SURVEY 2: GOALS & STRATEGIES SEPTEMBER 15 2018 – MARCH 31 2019

A second survey was launched in mid-September 2018. The survey was promoted through the arts and culture e-newsletter, the City's website, social media channels and through the media.

On March 31, 2019 the survey closed with 237 respondents.

The purpose of Survey 2 was to understand changes in community priorities since the 2012-2017 Cultural Plan and if goals should be added, removed or modified. Along with understanding these changing priorities, we aimed to understand what strategies respondents felt could be employed to achieve those goals. The questions provoked thought on what residents, artists, non-profit organizations, businesses or the government could do to achieve those goals.

FINDINGS

In general, respondents felt that the goals of the 2012-2017 Cultural Plan goals were still relevant today.

Strategies for improving cultural programming and achieving the goals of the plan focused on support, accessibility and inclusivity, spaces and promotion.

Respondents who suggested additional support was required were looking for:

- additional support to facilities
- increases in funding to grant programs
- support to local Indigenous groups
- support for those participating in outdoor street performances

To make the creative sector more inclusive and accessible, respondents' solutions included:

- improving parking availability
- supporting cultural diversity initiatives
- the extension of cultural activities outside of the downtown core
- subsidies to improve the affordability of cultural events

Many respondents said that the creative sector would benefit from more space for culture, including investment in the development of new cultural facilities - primarily Kelowna Community Theatre and Island Stage.

Respondents wanted to see an increased presence of cultural events and activities on social media and promotions to encourage participation in different cultural activities. There was a desire to see a one-stop location for cultural events in Kelowna.

Importance of 2012-2017 Cultural Plan Goals

FINDINGS

Conversation topics were diverse and ranged from the need for cultural facilities, finding more and different kinds of affordable cultural spaces and enhancing the number of programs and services offered in the community.

A range of possible strategies to achieve a stronger creative sector were brainstormed. Along with these strategies, groups highlighted areas that they felt needed additional attention in the updated plan, such as the need to focus on supporting multiculturalism and the syilx/Okanagan People.

Two of the groups that hosted open community discussions convened additional meetings, without funding support, to begin work on the ideas generated at the original meeting. This was an unexpected and favourable outcome of the small grant program and we look forward to working with these community-led committees upon implementation of the plan.

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS OPEN HOUSE AT UBCO JANUARY 29 2019

An information booth was set up at the University of British Columbia Okanagan campus for students and faculty to give feedback about the goals and strategies of the Cultural Plan. A paper survey was available for people to take home if they wanted more time to reflect.

Promotion of youth engagement activities included use of City and local educational institutions social media channels, newsletters and digital screens. The CCTV at the Rotary Centre for the Arts and Kelowna Community Theatre also hosted the information and paper handouts were made available at various community events leading up to the application deadline. Posters were delivered to schools, as well as put up at various coffee shops and cultural venues in the community. Cultural Services staff also contacted teachers of arts disciplines across the public and private school systems. Teachers were encouraged to invite their students to participate and provide feedback in the process themselves. A total of 35 university students, professors and staff took part in the open house event.

FINDINGS

Attendees of the open house prioritized integrating culture into plans and processes and finding and using innovative funding approaches. Discussion and feedback at the open house focused on more networking opportunities between students and the creative sector, enhancing opportunities to showcase student art, more arts festivals and student involvement in community projects.

YOUTH AND YOUNG PROFESSIONALS FORUM JANUARY 31 2019

Interested youth and young professionals between the ages of 16 and 26 came together to talk about the Cultural Plan and give feedback on what they would like to see achieved in our community. Attendees brainstormed their perfect vision of Kelowna and developed strategies for how our community could achieve those visions. The forum was advertised in coordination with the advertising of the Young Professionals Open House. Participants were asked to apply in advance of the event. A total of 12 youth from grade 11 through university attended the forum.

FINDINGS

Attendees prioritized enhancing cultural vitality at the street level, integrating culture into plans and processes and using innovative funding approaches. Conversations focused on better advertisement of events and programs available in our community, recognizing culturally diverse arts groups and cultures, and offering more support (financial, space, promotion) to artists in our community.

INNOVATION CENTRE CHALK WALL
FEBRUARY 2019

To expand the ways people could provide feedback, the question, “How can we enhance arts, culture and heritage in Kelowna?” was posted on the chalk wall in Kelowna’s Innovation Centre. Chalk markers were provided, and anyone could write, draw or express their feedback on the board. The question remained on the board for three weeks and was filled with responses.

As well, cards with links to the survey were left by the board to provide participants with the opportunity to give further feedback if they were interested. The Chalk Wall was open to any member of the public who entered the Innovation Centre including the employees and members of the public.

FINDINGS

The wall was hugely successful, and many unique ideas were generated. Comments were broad but focused on inclusivity, funding/ support and street level vitality. They demonstrated the desire to support LGBTQ2+ communities, First Nations programs/events and support for involving youth in the sector. Funding for artists, free programs/services to the community, equality among socioeconomic classes and ethnicity were common answers. Additionally, there was a desire for more events, higher diversity of events, more street art, and more activity in our community.

STAKEHOLDER EVENTS
JANUARY – MARCH 2019

A variety of additional workshops, open houses and interviews were held with cultural stakeholders. Conversations were led by Cultural Services staff, but the content was controlled by those participating in the discussions. Cultural Services staff also attended public events where interested individuals were able to talk about their thoughts on the plan.

PERSONAL AND SMALL GROUP INTERVIEWS

One-to-one interviews were held with interested representatives from Okanagan College, UBC Okanagan, School District 23 and the Kelowna Actors Studio. Interviews were also held with numerous City of Kelowna staff not directly involved in the Advisory Group but who are impacted by the plan’s content.

CULTURAL FACILITY MASTER PLAN ORGANIZATION INTERVIEWS JANUARY - MARCH 2019

Arts and culture organizations were asked to participate in a telephone survey regarding cultural facilities in Kelowna. The survey was used to inform this plan's development and the development of the Cultural Facilities Master Plan. The questions focused strongly on the organization they represented, how they use spaces/facilities, the limitations they face with the available spaces, and how their needs could be better met.

The following groups completed an interview with either City of Kelowna staff or CitySpaces, a consulting firm engaged to support the development of the Cultural Facilities Master Plan:

FINDINGS

The findings from these interviews were broad and extensive. Detailed findings of this engagement activity can be found within the Cultural Facilities Master Plan, expected to be released in late 2019.

CAPSTONE PROJECT: DATA ANALYSIS APRIL 23 - JUNE 25 2019

An opportunity was available to apply for a Capstone Project with the UBC Okanagan Masters of Data Science Program. This program was looking for unique community projects with data that needed to be analyzed. Cultural Services staff were successful in their application and three masters' students started working with the Cultural Plan update project on April 23, 2019.

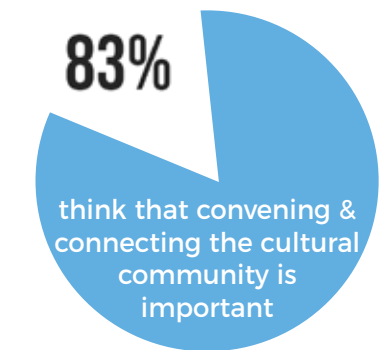

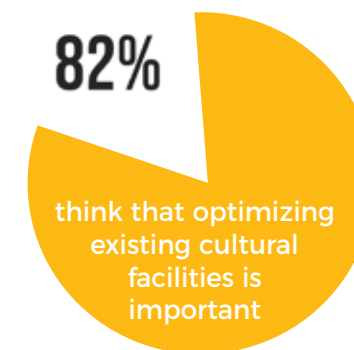

Over a period of two months, these students worked directly with Cultural Services staff to:

- Use data science techniques to clean and analyze the text data collected during the engagement activities;
- Visualize trends, patterns and other insights that may not be seen using more traditional methods of reviewing large quantities of information or, may be impacted by individual biases inherent in human analysis;
- Create an interactive map with ongoing data collection possibilities.

A variety of machine learning techniques were employed to objectively analyze the data including sentiment analysis, data visualizations and topic modelling.

FINDINGS

- Respondents aged 55+ prioritized enhancing existing support programs, optimizing existing cultural facilities and enhancing cultural vitality at the street level
- Respondents aged 25 or younger prioritized convening and connecting the cultural community and integrating culture into plans and processes and using innovative funding approaches
- The most important needs of the community, according to respondents, are more affordable spaces, financial help and more support to local groups
- Cultural organizations' satisfaction with facilities gradually decreases as they move further away from the downtown core
- People are generally happier when they travel 14 kilometers or less to a cultural venue

APPENDIX II: METHODOLOGY FOR ENGAGEMENT

CLOSING SURVEY: DRAFT CULTURAL PLAN REVIEW JULY 19 - AUGUST 5 2019

Using the feedback provided from July of 2018 to the end of March 2019, a draft summary of the Cultural Plan was created. This summary included a Vision, Guiding Principles, Key Themes, Goals and Strategies. To ensure that the community feedback was reflected and that the plan supports the community's ideas for the future of the creative sector, the draft was released to the public for feedback online and at public events. In addition to open dialogue at public events, an online survey was created and allowed for people to provide detailed feedback.

CULTURAL SERVICES ATTENDED THE FOLLOWING EVENTS:

- Arts on the Avenue event – Bernard Avenue
- Creative Sector Economic Impact Assessment Luncheon – Capri Hotel
- Dancing in the Park/Park & Play – Stuart Park
- Okanagan Regional Library – Downtown Branch
- Okanagan Regional Library – Rutland Branch
- Parkinson Recreation Centre lobby
- Rutland Community Market

A total of 266 people attended the booths set up around the community and took the time to learn about the Cultural Plan and give their feedback.

Respondents to the online survey were primarily from the downtown (V1Y) area of Kelowna, representing 43.9 per cent of survey respondents, and were mostly residents/audience members or workers/volunteers for a cultural organization. 26.8 per cent of respondents were aged 45-54, and 19.5 per cent of respondents were either aged 55-64 or 25-34.

FINDINGS

Overall, the feedback confirmed that the draft plan covered the community's needs and priorities. Respondents were happy with the increased focus on multiculturalism and celebrating diverse cultural traditions. They are excited to see how the plan will unfold through its implementation. Additionally, respondents were pleased with the inclusion of relationship building with the syilx/Okanagan People.

A common piece of feedback that we received was the concern for rebuilding the Kelowna Community Theatre. Respondents highly prioritized the rebuilding of the theatre, as well as the development of other world class art and culture facilities. Other common comments focused on support for individual artists and more accessible events. Respondents were eager to see how the plan unfolds but were also concerned with how success would be measured.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We would like to acknowledge the involvement and input of all contributors throughout our community. The 2020-2025 Cultural Plan is a community-based strategy intended to reflect the vision, principles and goals of our community as they relate to the development of arts, culture and heritage. The 15-month process to develop this plan involved numerous requests for information, feedback and idea generation from individuals, groups and organizations across our community. It was these contributions that are collectively reflected as our 2020-2025 Cultural Plan.

The final plan would not have been possible without the endless support of Nicole Cantley, Community Development Coordinator (Culture) and Lisa Ruether, Communications Advisor who worked in the background throughout the process to ensure the success of this project.

We hope that you are as excited as we are to roll up our sleeves, take on a community initiative (or three) and make a positive impact through cultural development.
